

THE ELIAS FAMILY

The longest serving coracle family on the River Towy.

Official records confirm that it was the main occupation of the Elias family in 1766 and probably goes back even further.

Pictured L-R: John Elias, John Elias, Dai Elias, Joe Woodhead, Brian Rees, Raymond Rees and Matthew Rees.

Amazingly this tradition has been proudly passed down through 7 generations.

The Elias family can still be seen coracle fishing on the Towy today as they strive hard to protect this age-old tradition.
