

Coracle Stories

Sorting the net before they head off down river for the night shift.

A pair of coracle men drift down the river with their net opened out towards the Bascule Bridge.

With the backdrop of Carmarthen town, the coraclemen drift on the tide, their net opened between them.